

CONNECTICUT PREMIER OF

PALESTINE

Photo: Sturgis Warner

Written and performed by Najla Said

Direction and dramaturgy by Sturgis Warner

Saturday, March 3, 2012 at 2 p.m.

Southern Connecticut State University, Engleman Hall C112
501 Crescent Street, New Haven, CT

Sponsored by the SCSU Women's Studies Program 64 Days of Nonviolence and the Middle East Crisis Committee

Tickets: $25/ $10 students. Tickets and Info: www.TheStruggle.org, (203) 934-2761

PALESTINE was originally produced Off-Broadway by Twilight Theatre Company in association with New York Theatre Workshop.

The daughter of Edward W. Said, the Columbia University professor who until his death in 2003 was the most prominent advocate in this country for the cause of Palestinian independence, Ms. Said guides the audience through her teenage years as a self-described politically agnostic Upper West Side princess to a vision of herself today, a 35-year-old woman who is deeply moved by the very word "Palestine."

-Interview with Felicia R. Lee, New York Times, February 8, 2010